

Larkin	New York - Employer Statements Process (State Income Replacement Benefits)
Disability Form	N/A- the state example does not include an employer statement, but an insurance carrier may create one.
PFL Form	Form PFL-1 B
Timing	At time of application
Notification	Employee will generally submit blank employer forms to the employer for completion. Employer should provide completed form to employee within 3 business days (in some cases, employers may provide the PFL-1 B directly to the insurance carrier - please check with your insurance carrier).
Submission	Employee is generally responsible for mailing completed employee and employer forms to the insurance carrier.*
Disability Sample Form	N/A – varies by insurance carrier
Paid Family Leave Sample Form	See any of the PFL 1 forms below for a reference. However, forms may vary by individual insurance carrier. https://paidfamilyleave.ny.gov/forms
Website Registration Required by Employer?	There is no state website registration for NY for the employer statement process and/or to view the status of an employee claim. NY benefits are not administered by the state, and are generally insured or self-insured (see the " Coverage Options and Funding " section on this state's Compliance Center page). Generally, the employee must provide the above form to the employer to complete. The employer completes and returns the form to the employee and the employee provides it directly to the carrier. However, if you have questions, please check the employer statements process with your NY provider, as processes may vary by carrier (including if/how you are notified of employee claims status).

The Larkin Company has taken reasonable steps to ensure the accuracy of the information on this page, however we make no representation or warranty of any kind as to its accuracy or completeness. These resources should not be construed or substituted for legal advice. Accordingly, before taking any actions based upon such information provided herein, we encourage you to seek competent legal advice from a licensed attorney or appropriate professionals.